DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-12 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-15 of copending Application No. 10/067,605 and over claims 1-17 of copending Application No. 10/067,583. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the present application recites the same limitations of the conflicting claims, but the conflicting claims have additional limitations.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 2817

4 Claims 1-3, 7-9 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Passaro United States Patent No. 3,339,158 (cited by the applicant).

The Passaro reference discloses in figure 1 cascaded junction circulator (including the method) comprising: signal ports 1-6; junctions shown formed of conductor patterns 21-27; ferrite components 31, 32; and permanent magnet 18 thereby forming a non-reciprocal device (i.e. circulator - see title and abstract). With respect to claims 7-9 and 12, figure 1 shows that air (i.e. dielectric medium) is between the two ferrites 31, 32 and the strip transmission lines form a microwave non-reciprocal structure including ground planes 13 and one not shown (col. 3, lines 1-23).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 2817

7. Claims 4-6, 10, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Passaro.

As noted above, Passaro discloses a non-reciprocal cascaded circulator device with ferrites 31, 32, ground plates 13, and permanent magnet 18 but does not disclose various elements such as housing, pole pieces, and cover (and cover return).

Nevertheless, these elements are conventional in a circulator device and are required for proper environmental protection (e.g. housing, cover, cover return) and to shape the magnetic field (pole pieces).

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have added conventional environmental protection members (housing, cover, cover return) and pole pieces to the circulator device of Passaro because such conventional elements are required for proper/enhanced operation of the device.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- a. Fisher et al. United States Patent No. 5,172,080 discloses cascaded circulators with pole piece, cover, and housing.
- b. Carr United States Patent No. 3,534,296 discloses cascaded circulators with a ferrite covering the junctions.
- c. De Gruyl United States Patent No. 3,781,704 discloses cascaded circulators.
